

Greece and the Fourth Reich

Has Greece forgotten its Guardian Angel?

Greece: Alpha

Europe began with Greece. Europe's very name comes from Greek mythology. For a long time, in its glory days, the Christian European City of New Rome, later called Constantinople, was the Greek-speaking Capital not only of Europe, but also, across the water, of part of Asia. Hence its symbol, the double-headed eagle, looking both Europewards and Asiawards. Having replaced Old Rome with its deeply ingrained paganism and become a small and dilapidated provincial town, New Rome rapidly became the greatest city in the world, a million in population. It was far in advance of others, with silk from China and Persia, ivory from India and Africa, fur from Russia, marble from Italy, soldiers from Sweden and tin from Britain.

The Evil Empire?

Today's bankrupt Greece will receive no EU money at all to cover its Euro/Reichsmark debts. Any EU 'loans' that may finally be granted will be paid directly into the coffers of Non-Greek banks, mainly in France and Germany – the core of the Neo-Carolingian EU. The same is true of 'loans' from the recently-beheaded, US-based IMF. Little wonder that Greeks call the EU the Fourth Reich (Empire), after the First Reich of the Carolingians, the Second of Bismarck and the Third of Hitler. The economic and monetary plans of the EU so closely copy Hitler's economic plans. Instead of enriching the elite of the National Socialist (Nazi)

Party, today those plans enrich the elite of the International Capitalist (EU) Party. Some talk of the folly of monetary union without political union. Or perhaps monetary union was, as we long suspected, a knowing folly, in order to impose political union, despite the wishes of the peoples of Europe.

On other parts of the EU periphery, Ireland and Portugal and perhaps Spain too, are being prepared for ex-Reichsmark status. Money and employment are increasingly being drained away from the periphery to the centre. The pagan Roman Empire is reborn. As for Belgium, the EU centre, it has had no government for nearly a year. It is becoming an EU papal fiefdom. Outside the EU, bankrupt Iceland has been brought to its knees and is about to submit. Bosnia-Herzegovina (the Belgium of the Balkans) and Kosovo are EU/NATO colonies. If ever the foreign troops left, these artificial statelets would disappear. Pro-atheist Croatia has been promised EU membership in two years time. And the EU-inspired governments of Montenegro and Macedonia, now being groomed for EU entry, are mounting nationalist persecutions against their historic faith.

Today, the brothels of EU countries are staffed with slave girls from bankrupt former Communist countries – Czechs, Poles, Slovaks, Ukrainians. The Slavs are still slaves, Slavdom equals slavedom, as Charlemagne – and Hitler - had it. The uprooted citizens of such countries and many others, Hungary, Lithuania, Latvia, Romania and Bulgaria, are forced to work in Western Europe doing the jobs that nobody wants. Some of their great-grandparents also worked there as Hitler's slave labour. Now their great grandchildren have become the wage-slave labour of this new Roman Empire, sending home their savings to their parentless children, looked after by their grandparents in the homelands. The ideological slavery of materialist Communism has become the financial slavery of materialist Capitalism. The people still suffer from the same humanist myth – a non-existent paradise on earth.

Greece: Omega

Working in Thessaloniki in Greece from 1978 to 1979, I remember the lively discussion at the time about Greece's forthcoming entry into 'the European Community', the forerunner of the European Union (EU). I remember seeing at a kiosk a magazine cover, showing Greece, portrayed as a dark-haired maiden, submitting and paying tribute on her knees to a new Charlemagne, the leader of a Neo-Carolingian Europe. It was prophetic. It seems now as if at least part of the European dream/fantasy/plot, a common European currency, is to end with Greece, now enslaved to the all-powerful feudal bankers of the EU.
